

ABSTRACT

An image interpolation system for interpolating the gaps between the lines forming an image, includes: virtual interpolation data generating means 100 and 120 for generating
5 virtual interpolation data of inter-lines between the lines of the input image, based on the input image line data; and interpolating means 130 and 140 for interpolating the pixels between input image lines, based on the generated virtual interpolation data.

10

09890797.080601